USAID Evaluations

The Global Health Program Cycle Improvement Project (GH Pro) conducts performance and impact Program and Project Evaluations on behalf of USAID.

GH Pro evaluations are:

- Responsive: GH Pro immediately reviews the scope of work (SOW), provides feedback, and begins recruiting, upon receipt of a scope from the GH Pro COR at USAID.
- Flexible: GH Pro can adapt and adjust our work immediately, without a contract modification, if SOW or other changes are needed – at any time throughout assignment implementation.
- Transparent and Accountable: GH Pro works on behalf of USAID, so we openly share our processes, procedures, and information with our consultants and our USAID clients.
- Cost Conscious: GH Pro develops a realistic cost estimate based on the SOW, and only charges for actual expended costs, reprogramming unexpended funds for future work.
- Highly Qualified and Experienced: GH Pro not only has experienced recruiters but also maintains a current extensive consultant database with a range of consultants uniquely well qualified to meet the specific needs of each evaluation.
- Quality Assurance: GH Pro provides quality assurance and oversight on all our evaluations, beginning with the SOW review and continuing thru report production and DEC posting.

Over the past four-and-a-half years, GH Pro worked on over 100 performance evaluations, of which 38 were PEPFAR. Among all evaluations, 64 were requested by USAID overseas Missions.

GH Pro implements evaluations in compliance with both USAID Evaluation Policy (2011), ADS 201 Program Cycle Operational Policy (2017), and PEPFAR Standards of Practice (2014).

To ensure the dissemination of the evaluation findings and recommendations, GH Pro Evaluation Reports are posted on our webpage (<http://ghpro.dexisonline.com/reports-publications>) and on the USAID DEC (<https://dec.usaid.gov>).
